Observation: An Important Caregiving Tool

What can we learn about our residents by observing them? How do we use our observation skills to assess resident health and well-being?